Anotation: This book is dedicated to the evil of war, the origins, features, terror and goals of the three great totalitarianisms of the 20th century, especially totalitarianisms in the Croatian territories. In a special way, she talks about the sources of our internal bloody conflicts, as well as the determination and naivety of politicians who flirted and closely cooperated with the leaders of great totalitarian regimes and created copies of foreign dictatorships. The purpose of this reading is to remind the reader of the core, practice, forms and methods of brutal and violent totalitarian governments that caused terrible troubles and evils to people whose part of life fell into the period of the 20th century. The totalitarianisms of three powerful superpowers: the Soviet Union, Italy and Germany and the effects of their dictatorial regimes are discussed. And the possibility of repeating them.

Anotation: The development and shaping of political anti-Semitism in Croatia and Slavonia at the turn of the 19th and 20th centuries is presented chronologically. After the introduction, the first chapter presents the historical context and, above all, the active parties, their political lines, their protagonists and their press. After the description of the parties, a brief overview of the history of the Jews in Croatia and Slavonia is given. Although anti-Semitism is not primarily understood as part of Jewish history, it has affected European Jews to varying degrees. The history of Croatian Jews is mostly unknown to the reading (professional) audience outside of Croatia. It is not outlined here only for that reason, but also to clarify the Croatian-Jewish (i.e. Christian-Jewish) context.

 Anotation This book is the first comprehensive work on the Croatian high school in Rijeka from the perspective of its role and meaning in the preservation of Croatian national identity in the second half of the 19th century, when it was seriously threatened by the systematic Hungarianization and Italianization of the city of Rijeka. In addition to its primary, educational activity, the gymnasium also led a political struggle for the preservation of Croatian linguistic and national identity, thus becoming the most important Croatian institution in the city and a kind of symbol of national resistance. Because of this, it experienced media and vandal attacks and, in the end, was forced to move from Rijeka, but it managed to educate generations of Croatian patriots and national revivalists, so this school is partly to blame for the fact that Rijeka and Istria are now parts of the Republic of Croatia.

 Anotation In the Croatian public, there are still many unknowns as to why and how the clash between the Croatian Army and the Army of the Republika Srpska (VRS) took place in Operation "Una" on the banks of the Una and Sava rivers on September 18 and 19, 1995. Carrying out a tactically and operationally very complex operation of an unprepared forcible crossing of rivers, the engaged forces of the Croatian Army, after initial success, withdrew to their initial combat positions already on the second day of the operation. The most serious consequence of the "Una" operation is 50 dead or missing Croatian soldiers, which is the main motive for elucidating the contradictory and until now mostly partially and differently presented circumstances in which it was initiated, prepared and conducted.

 Anotation The book describes the saints who came from the Roman Catholic Church, and many of them were martyrs from the beginning of Christianity and before the church split (1054). It is almost impossible to list or describe all the saints who had any contact with animals. Animals were their companion, help or sign. It took a lot of effort to choose the most important, interesting or famous saints, and it was not easy to find the different animals that accompany them and describe them by species.

Anotation ...This monograph has a special place in the present moment, in which there is often a false impression of the disappearance of the translation profession in the future due to the emergence of artificial intelligence and the rise of digital translation tools. This aspect is proven by empirical research conducted using a mixed method of collecting quantitative and qualitative data on the population of translators in the Republic of Croatia. The results of this research contribute to guidelines towards a stronger professionalization of the translation profession, which is changing its direction from an "ordinary" translator to a mediator and interpretive communicator.

Anotation These are texts dealing with phraseological etymology, i.e. the origin and motivation of Croatian idioms. In them, on the one hand, the origin of a group of idioms whose components can be semantically grouped (e.g. animalistic, somatic, phytonymic, sports) is considered, and sometimes, on the other hand, the common source of individual idioms is taken as a criterion (e.g. idioms that derive their origin from fables, from the Bible or from mythology).

Anotation Among Rakovčev's various manuscripts in the making, a book about Bosnia and Herzegovina stood out. The book is unfinished, but here it is revealed in its imperfection and incompleteness before us. It is at the same time an act of translation and introduction: an attempt to translate one's own experience of the people, space and history of Bosnia and Herzegovina, but also the experience of one's own reading of BiH literature into a universal cultural memory that could serve as an introduction to BiH for younger people and those who are yet to come. the multiverse.

Anotation The book Čao-mjao belongs not only among the sharpest critically, but also among Pavličić's most important essay books in general. At the same time, it undoubtedly belongs to the top of the new millennium Croatian critical essay writing in general, not only because of the topic it opens up, but also because of the specific style in which it was written. Namely, books like this rarely appear: it is extremely critical but also decent, sharp and benevolent, comprehensive and concrete, multi-layered and readable. Such books can only be written by writers and minds of the highest caliber, but also on the condition that they want good for their culture and homeland.

Title Dalmacija noir : [15 priča majstora žanra]
/ [izabrala Iva Pejčković ; fotografije Aleksandar Bonačić ... et al.].
Impresum Zadar : Panacea, 2023.
Description 199 str. : ilustr. ; 21 cm.
ISBN 9789534800126 : EUR 20.90 US$ 23.90
Anotation Dalmatia is not only the blue of the sky and the sea, the glare of the sun and the beaches, the hedonism of food and wine with the intoxicating scents of the Mediterranean and the sound of crickets and seagulls. Dalmatia also has its dark side, its noir, which fifteen writers used in this collection to write their stories in a genre that also brings to light the Dalmatian black chronicle. They will take us to dark portuns, cemeteries, unlit shacks, burning olive groves and all kinds of scenes of possible tragic epilogues; will introduce us to self-destructive, lost, terrified individuals, executioners and victims, atypical inspectors and typical Dalmatians caught in a world of lies, fraud, crime, anxiety and unfortunate circumstances.

Impresum Zagreb : Fraktura, 2024.
Description 175 str. ; 21 cm.
ISBN 9789533587363 : EUR 21.30 US$ 24.40
Anotation Ivica Đikić in Divlji kvas masterfully, with a lot of humor and bitterness, revives the atmosphere of a provincial town where everyone knows everyone, and where the past and the present cannot be separated. This novel is a gallery of the characters of our lives: just like in reality, there are no right and wrong, everyone has the burden of their own and general history such that they cannot get rid of it and start new lives, but must wait for the wind to blow that will move them in this or that direction.

Title Drvo djetinjstva, drvosječa nisam : (1938. - 1952.)

Description 156 str. : ilustr. ; 21 cm.
Anotation After Cjediljka za perfekt, Branislav Glumac added another autobiographical book to his large oeuvre of almost forty titles. And while in Cjediljka he writes about his life from 1957 to 2010, in the book Drvo djetinjstva, drvosječa nisam, the actor goes back even deeper into the past, into his childhood. Well, if in Krleža we read about childhood in Agram, here we are talking about childhood in Virovitica, which we follow from the first memories until the author's 14 years.

 Anotation The first novel of the favorite Croatian writer Iva Ušćumlić Duhovi, first published in 2013, shows a mature author who knows how to develop a plot and plastic, psychologically convincing characters whose traumas are transmitted from generation to generation without fail, more thoroughly than a multiplication table. The ghosts of Iva Ušćumlić will lead you to live the lives recorded on these pages and to ask yourself if some hidden things can be avoided and how.

 Impresum Zagreb : Hena com, 2024.
 Description 239 str. ; 22 cm.
 ISBN 9789532594775 : EUR 21.20 US$ 24.30
 Anotation Narrated from the perspective of a blind man, who is at the same time its focal point, the novel Ekspozicija tame (Exposure of Darkness) takes place in the imaginary Podravina village of Viru, where the rich merchant family of Aviro ended up as a result of migration. Their house is the center of intellectual life, more elegant and civil than others, the breath of Vienna, so it is not surprising that a blind boy from a poor, illiterate family thinned out and damaged by the Great War wants and longs to be like them, one of them, all his life.

In preparation for writing a novel about organ smuggling, he conducted thorough research so that all autopsy protocols, anatomical details, and descriptions of the halls of the pathology department are authentic. In the novel, Rajić proves himself as a writing craftsman who is not afraid of literary challenges.  Anotation In the novel Kao da nema sutra (As if there is no tomorrow), we are led by the members of the unusual Fleminov family, each from their own, seemingly incompatible, perspective. The eldest son, a humanitarian, is benevolent to his own detriment, the father is driven by nostalgia for military service while a new conflict is on the horizon, the mother as a nurse is directly exposed to the apocalypse, the younger son just wants to find a new place to camp and roll another joint, and an eighteen-year-old daughter in the vortex of mental illness hopes for a better tomorrow. Like, in the end, all of us. But what if tomorrow doesn't come?

 Annotation In sixteen stories, Cvetnić brings to life a vivid gallery of characters: yuppies, businessmen, lawyers, journalists, politicians, but also "little people": sexually frustrated pensioners, disillusioned communist dissidents and lonely high school professors, who, taken together, give a layered picture of Croatian society and its protagonist.

 Description 168 str. ; 21 cm.
 Annotation Slavenka Drakulić tells about marital relationships that disintegrate over time and turn into petty reproaches and permanent ill will, about newly discovered passion in mature years, about our imprisonment in the body, about the fact that all our thoughts, all our creativity, all our aspirations and desires, all our psychophysical progress depends on the very thin skin that holds our body together. The stories O čemu ne govorimo (We Don't Talk About) will shake you to the core, take you on an emotional merry-go-round and make you ask yourself difficult questions - even the most difficult one, your own duration in time.

 Annotation Tomislav Šovagović wrote a great novel in one single sentence! That furious sentence full of love, jealousy, passion and depression is a broken haiku miniatures, and already after the first few pages the reader will find himself thinking and breathing in the rhythm set by the writer and with pleasure surrender to his masterful leadership.

 Description 216 str. : ilustr. ; 20 cm.
 Annotation The novel-essay with the intriguing title Sveto pismo (Holy Scripture) begins precisely with the letter: with the discovery of ancient clay tablets that need to be deciphered, and thus open the door to a lost world, which slowly intertwines and permeates our own. The two streams, fictional and essayistic, flow comparatively and mathematically balanced, similar to a DNA double helix, but, as usual in Dragan Jurak's books, it is often difficult to tell them apart.

 Description 163 str. ; 21 cm.
 Annotation With the collection of stories Vidjet ćeš kad odrasteš (You'll see when you grow up), Luca Kozina confronts us, narrating from a child's perspective, with the violent and hypocritical society we live in, which closes its eyes to the problems of children and young people, even though there is constant talk about caring for them. Aware that in almost every childhood there is a hidden little hell to which the environment closes its eyes, Luca Kozina unpretentiously and convincingly exposes that hell, giving an authentic portrayal of children's helplessness, fear, but also hope.

 Anotation Visoke trave (The tall grasses) by Zoran Žmirić are an ode to friendships that should last forever, a book about a generation whose dreams were forcibly stolen, but which never stopped saving them, so even today they live in the collective memory in some places, on some new basketball courts where new kids start their novels that life will write for them.

 Description 132 str. ; 23 cm.
 ISBN 9789535207320 : EUR 20.80 US$ 23.80
 Anotation In her new book of prose writings, Irena Matijašević combines love speech and a kind of introspective fairy tale. As soon as he convinces us that we are witnessing the breakdown of a love relationship anchored in realistic storytelling, we suddenly fall, with Alice, monks and other enigmatic characters, into an inverted world of lyrical fantasy. From fragments of love speech, essay and commentary inserts, metatextual discourses about what a character, author, narration is, a complete narrative is woven about being in the world and time, about freedom, about love, about beauty, about aging, about meaning, about creation. .
